

Laura Bosch

Sustainable Investment Specialist, Robeco

Laura Bosch is a Sustainable Investment Specialist within Robeco's Sustainable Investing Center of Expertise. She is responsible for conducting engagement related to environmental and social topics covering the consumer goods industry.

Moreover she is involved in client facing activities around Robeco's Sustainable Investing approach in South East Asia. She joined Robeco in 2016 and held various roles in the Active Ownership department in the Netherlands.

Prior to joining Robeco, she gained experience in corporate sustainability research working at the United Nations University and non-profit organizations in Latin America.

She holds a Master's in Public Policy from United Nations University and a Bachelor's in Economics from University of Barcelona.

